Dear Friends,

The board of Rainbow Valley Resource Network is making adjustments to its leadership team to better support the organization's mission. The executive director position will be restructured and added to the board chair's responsibilities.

We are grateful to the outgoing executive director, Jeff Robertson, whose contract is coming to an end July 15. Jeff will return to the part-time Christian Science practice and develop a new professional path offering workshops for educators and youth mentors who navigate labeling and decision making. We appreciate the grace, humor, and love that Jeff brought to his work with RVRN constituents, his efforts to boost recurring giving, and his passion for our mission.

Our board chair, Julie Finnin Day, will assume the role of executive director effective July 16. She brings to this opportunity a background in nonprofits and journalism, as well as the first-hand privilege of raising a child with special needs.

Meeting others through RVRN gatherings has been so uplifting to me. I look forward to sharing RVRN with everyone who might be blessed by this "Circle of love. Circle of support."

If you would like to contact Julie, she can be reached at julie@rvrnetwork.org.

The Board of Directors
